To view a list of awards from NIH RePORTER, click on underlined dollar amounts. RePORTER provides the most up-to-date information available on funded projects, so the data are not frozen and changes in the administrative details of prior awards can occur. Dollar amounts that are not underlined do not have specific awards available in NIH RePORTER. For a glossary of NIH award codes, go to https://grants.nih.gov/grants/funding/funding_program.htm.

¹A CTSA Program Hub is defined as a UL1 award with a linked KL2 award and an optional TL1 award. No Cost Extensions (NCE) to Hub awards do not receive funding from NCATS in a particular fiscal year. NCEs do not count as funded Hubs in that fiscal year and are therefore not reflected in the table. A cost extension is a one-time request for an extension of the original final budget period of a project with a minimal amount of funds, for a period of up to 12 months. The purpose of a cost extension is to provide an orderly completion/closeout of critical activities or a temporary continuation of support to prevent loss of research resources or hardship of personnel. Additional funding support through a cost extension is contingent on the availability of NCATS resources and funding. See <https://ncats.nih.gov/funding/grantees/approval#extensions>.

² This category includes funding received from other NIH Institutes and Centers (ICs) to support a variety of collaborative projects and trans-NIH initiatives. Examples include: Research Focused on Maternal Mortality (NOT-OD-20-104), Research on Bioethical Issues (NOT-OD-20-038), CTSA Program KL2 Institutional Career Development Awards as part of Investigation of Co-occurring conditions across the Lifespan to Understand Down syndrome (INCLUDE) Project (NOT-OD-20-022), and Development of Training Modules in Genomic Medicine for Health Care Professionals (NOT-HG-20-020).

³ NCATS received CTSA Program-specific appropriations language beginning in FY2014. CTSA Program-specific appropriations language in FY2012 and FY2013 was directed to the NIH Office of the Director.

⁴ For FY2014, NCATS did not issue a CTSA Program Hub funding announcement as the program was being re-structured in response to the 2013 IOM recommendations. Eight CTSA Program Hubs that were positioned to re-compete for hub awards in FY2014 were issued orderly close-out supplements to enable them to remain active until a FY2015 funding announcement was available and posted.
