

EHP  PUBLISHING

the proud publisher of ehp Environmental Health

Perspectives

jhp Journal of Health and Pollution

Joel Kaufman

Editor-in-Chief, Environmental Health Perspectives (EHP)

Vision

We aspire to be the recognized leader at the intersection of advances in environmental health sciences and scholarly publishing.

Mission

Our mission is to advance knowledge and contribute to public health through timely publication and effective dissemination of high-impact scientific content in the environmental health sciences.

 Environmental Health Perspectives

- EHP Publishing publishes Environmental Health Perspectives (EHP) with support from the NIEHS
- Published since 1972
- Completely open access – no subscriptions, no paywalls, and no author fees
- Continuous publication
- 2022 Journal Impact Factor™ (released in 2023) is 10.4

Notable updates:

- Redesigned website experience
- New article types: Invited Perspectives and Seminars
- Global Engagement Program Analyst position
 - EHP Publishing is hiring a new team member to lead global engagement and capacity strengthening efforts for both EHP and JHP
- Early Career Researcher (ECR) Initiative
 - Mentored review program, ECR reviewer pool, ECR mentored writing opportunity

Resources:

Explore our website: <https://ehp.niehs.nih.gov/>

- Author Guidelines – how to prepare your manuscript, peer review procedures, and what happens after your paper is accepted
- Peer Reviewer Resource Center – tips on writing constructive reviewer comments and a helpful reviewer checklist
- Get involved with the Early Career Researcher Initiative
 - Visit bit.ly/EHP_ECR or contact Kristin.Inman@nih.gov with questions
- Follow EHP Publishing on LinkedIn, X, and Facebook